And I looked, and beheld a pale horse: and his name that sat on him was Death, and Hell followed with him. And Power was given unto them over the fourth part of the earth, to kill with the sword, and with hunger, and with death, and with the beasts of the earth.

AUTHOR'S NOTE

Although this book is fiction, actual incidents have provided the basis for the story, its framework having been extrapolated from historical fact. The personalities who exist within the pages of this book are composites of individuals who dominated or submitted, survived or perished, fought or surrendered, loved or hated, lived or died, in a time when reason and sanity seemed to have left the realm of man's endeavors, taking, as it were, an extended sabbatical.
